1. Do you think it's typical that people come to see that Christianity is good before they start to believe that it is true? How did that happen for you?
2. What are the aspects of Christian history that you are proudest of or most frustrated by?
3. What's some of the real-world evidence that faith is good?
4. How would you be different without Jesus in your life?
5. How do we avoid succumbing to hypocrisy?
6. Is it possible to answer someone's objections to Christianity with simple love?
7. What are some ways that the incarnation is different than the goodness we are used to seeing on earth?
